“Out of the Box”
Activities are More Fun than You Think

RESUMES ARE FOR CHILDREN TOO

Ever thought of your child having a resume? If your answer is "no", think again. Your child can participate in these "out of the box" activities to begin to build a great resume. There are many children's activities that come to mind, but then there are some that makes one say, "Hey, I've never thought of that!" So herein are some children's activities that are "out there." Your child's resume just might get a little more attention than those in the rest of the pile.

With your child's resume, you can:

- Use it to accompany an application into an academic program.
- Use it to seek sponsorship from friends and family - obtain OPM (other people's money) to pay for activities.
- Use it to seek grants and scholarships.

These are only a few uses, there're more!

ENJOY!
